

IMPACT OF 2022 NATIONAL FFA WEEK AT A GLANCE

Each year, FFA chapters celebrate National FFA Week. It's a time to share what FFA is and its impact on members. This February, members and chapter advisors celebrated FFA and served their communities, National FFA Officers visited with FFA chapters, and FFA Alumni and Supporters engaged on social media. Meanwhile, FFA partners and donors contributed to Give FFA Day, and National FFA staff celebrated at the National FFA Center in Indianapolis. This document provides quantitative information about FFA Week activities. For more information, contact evaluation@FFA.org.

Celebrating National FFA Week Locally

Many FFA advisors used the National FFA Week Implementation Guide to plan activities for their FFA chapters and schools during FFA Week.

Analytics show that users accessed the guide 4,436 times as of March 2022, with most interactions in January and February. During FFA Week, visitors to FFA.org accessed the guide 516 times. Over National FFA Week, the FFA Week webpage on FFA.org was viewed 10,375 times.

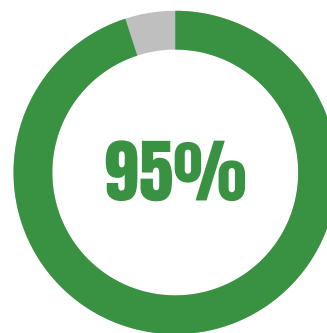

There are many possibilities for FFA Week activities, including:

- Teacher appreciation
- Social media campaigns
- Service projects
- Engaging with alumni and supporters
- School assemblies
- School spirit days (i.e., "wear blue and gold day")
- Recognition of Greenhand Degree recipients
- Fundraisers
